ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image processing apparatus is disclosed which processes a document described in a structured description language to generate an image. The 5   apparatus analyzes the document and recognizes the size of a font contained in the document. The user is allowed to enter a desired font size for output of the document. The apparatus then executes a drawing process with the entered font size.

10